

Our Company

BinaryWave specializes in providing dynamic solutions based on Microsoft SharePoint Products and Technologies. Founded in 2003 by Eric Shupps, a successful entrepreneur and technology consultant, the company has established a strong market position by providing a range of SharePoint-related consulting, training, development, and project management solutions. Our extensive experience with all phases of IT life cycle management, combined with our depth of general business knowledge, provides a unique perspective from which to advise our clients. With offices in Dallas, Texas and Bristol, England, BinaryWave provides value-added services to clients around the world.

Our Services

BinaryWave specializes in Microsoft SharePoint consulting, design, development and training. We excel at leveraging SharePoint technologies to deliver mission-critical line-of-business solutions that have a direct impact on key corporate initiatives. From personnel management to revenue generation, customer management to financial oversight, our experts can craft a custom solution that meets the most demanding requirements.

Our solutions range from customized intranet sites to stand-alone web parts and vertically integrated application suites. BinaryWave processes and procedures have been designed specifically to derive maximum value from employee, customer, and partner-facing portal applications and our developer workshops give ASP.NET and C# programmers the skills required to become effective SharePoint developers in a hands-on, experience-driven environment.

Our Customers

A mixture of high-profile clients, contributions to the developer community, numerous articles, a strong track record, and word of mouth advertising have cemented our reputation as a leader in the SharePoint services market. Clients across a wide range of industries, from healthcare to government, engineering, construction, energy, nutrition, real estate and technology rely upon BinaryWave to provide dynamic, SharePoint-based solutions to complex business problems.

Clients such as Horizon Health (NASDAQ: HOCR) and HealthChoice have improved internal efficiencies and increased regulatory compliance by migrating legacy applications to our collaborative SmartForms™ architecture. Others, such as Prince George's County, Maryland, and Carter & Burgess, Inc., have engaged our team of experts to assist with the customization and deployment of award-winning intranet portals. And many more have increased the skill and knowledge of their technical staff through participation in our developer workshops. Regardless of market sector or size, BinaryWave delivers – on time, on budget and on the mark.

Our People

BinaryWave is comprised of leading business and technology experts with more than 75 years of combined industry experience. Our consultants are the best in the business, widely recognized within the SharePoint community and fanatically dedicated to providing creative solutions, on-demand expertise and superior customer service.

For more information, visit us on the web at www.binarywave.com